

JANE MILLET

February 6, 1902

Portland Weekly Commercial

The home of Milton Millett, east of the city presented an unusually sad sight yesterday morning, when Mrs. Millett died. In the same house her husband and three children lay seriously sick.

Mrs. Millett, who was thirty-four years old, leaves a husband and three children. She had the measles but recovered from them only to take pneumonia and die. The rest of the family has measles.

Funeral services at the house Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Sunderman, interment at Liber.

The home of Milton Millett, east of the city presented an unusually sad sight yesterday morning, when Mrs. Millet died. In the same house her husband and three children lay seriously sick.

Mrs. Millett, who was thirty-four years old, leaves a husband and three children. She had the measles but recovered from them only to take pneumonia and die. The rest of the family has measles.

Funeral services at the house Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Sunderman, interment at Liber.

Portland Weekly Commercial, Jay County, IN; February 6, 1902

Contributed by Jim Cox